

Banská Štiavnica

the oldest mining town in Slovakia located in the middle of Štiavnica Hills. True jewel of renaissance and baroque art relegated in a landscape of forests and small lakes, and known for its astonishing baroque martyrdom. With the largest silver and gold mines in Europe, Banská Štiavnica was a prosperous city from the Middle Ages up to the 18th century. Many very significant technological innovations were developed there. One advancement used there for the first time was the use of hydraulic power to carry out drillings, water being stored in small artificial lakes which nowadays are used for recreation. Banská Štiavnica was added to Unesco's World Heritage List in 1993.

Summer School of Monuments Preservation in Banská Štiavnica

Detached department
Faculty of Architecture
Slovak University of Technology
Radničné námestie 2,
969 01 Banská Štiavnica
Slovakia

tel.: 00421-45-69 22 187
e-mail: fadp@stonline.sk

www.fa.stuba.sk, www.banskastiavnica.sk

offers to students

educational activities

in the field of Monument Preservation in original historic environment, the study in technical, economical and cultural sciences in region and european context of Preservation Historic Towns

drawing activities

History of Monuments in Architecture
Monuments and Society
The Place and Architecture

interesting trips

Monuments of Banská Štiavnica and surrounding towns Unique Cultural and Natural Heritage of Region

cultural and social meetings

workshops, exhibitions, lectures, traditional habits

10 day long course

with accomodation and board services directly in Banská Štiavnica

Address:
Fakulta architektúry Slovenskej technickej univerzity
Katedra ochrany a tvorby v pamiatkovom prostredí
Námestie slobody 19
812 45 Bratislava, SLOVENSKO

tel.: 00421-2-5292 15 53
fax. 00421-2-5292 15 33
e-mail: kralova@fa.stuba.sk, fadp@stonline.sk

summer 2003

Banská Štiavnica

the oldest mining town in Slovakia located in the middle of Štiavnica Hills. True jewel of renaissance and baroque art relegated in a landscape of forests and small lakes, and known for its astonishing baroque martyrdom. With the largest silver and gold mines in Europe, Banská Štiavnica was a prosperous city from the Middle Ages up to the 18th century. Many very significant technological innovations were developed there. One advancement used there for the first time was the use of hydraulic power to carry out drillings, water being stored in small artificial lakes which nowadays are used for recreation. Banská Štiavnica was added to Unesco's World Heritage List in 1993.

Summer School of Monuments Preservation in Banská Štiavnica

Dear students, lovers of Slovakia Beauty

Detached Department of Faculty of Architecture of Slovak University of Technology offers to your attention an excellent summer course

Summer School of Monuments Preservation

The major of the course is funny learning about cultural heritage of Banská Štiavnica and its surroundings. The participants will recognize Beauty of Banská Štiavnica in seminars, lectures, discussions directly in original historic spaces. They will learn about History of Architecture, relationships between Architecture, Nature and Society, the Site and Architecture in region field and in european space, too.

The teachers are professionals interested in Monuments of Preservation, History and Cultural Science. They will very like deal of their opinion, knowledge and experiences.

The course is 10 day long in english/slovak language,

from 27th July to 7th August

Participation fee is 650 EUR /for person all inclusive/

It is available to take part in course also during the academic year but only for minimum of amount 15 applicants. It is necessary to book the course 2 month before.

Address:
Fakulta architektúry Slovenskej technickej univerzity
Katedra ochrany a tvorby v pamiatkovom prostredí
Námestie slobody 19
812 45 Bratislava, SLOVENSKO

tel.: 00421-2-5292 15 53
fax. 00421-2-5292 15 33
e-mail: kralova@fa.stuba.sk, fadp@stonline.sk